Job Announcement

The Walther Schücking Institute for International Law at the University of Kiel, Germany, seeks a beginning on 15th December 2017 initially limited for a period of three years. The regular weekly working hours amount to half of those expected of a full-time employee (currently 19.35 hours per week). Salary and benefits are determined according to the provisions of the current wage agreement applicable to remuneration group 13 TV-L. The teaching obligation consists of two contact hours per week.

Research Associate (with the aim of completing a Ph.D.)

Requirements:

- First Examination in Law or Second State Examination in Law in Germany with the final grade of at least “fully satisfactory” ("vollbefriedigend"), or a comparable foreign legal qualification (e.g. Master of Laws or J.D.),
- Special knowledge in the area of public international law,
- English as a native language, or outstanding English language skills,
- Professional experience in academic editing and publishing is desirable,
- Fluency in German is not required, but is desirable.

Job Description:

- Editing and substantial supervision of the German Yearbook of International Law,
- Language supervision and coaching of Kiel’s student teams during their participation in foreign language moot courts and other public international law competitions, and
- Subject-specific teaching activities.

The University of Kiel is committed to increasing the number of female academics in research and teaching and particularly invites women with the requisite qualifications to apply. Women with comparable suitability, qualifications and specialist abilities will be given preferential consideration in the selection process.

The University of Kiel is active in its support for the employment of disabled persons. For this reason, disabled persons will be given preferential treatment over other equally qualified applicants.

We warmly welcome applicants with a migration background.
